For 65 years, CIEE has been the nation's leader in producing high-quality international study abroad and exchange programs. A non-profit, non-governmental international exchange organization, CIEE helps to set - and raise - the standards of international education.

CIEE is increasing overall scholarships and grants to $20 million by 2020 as part of the Institute of International Education's (IIE) Generation Study Abroad initiative. In support of the new initiative and as part of the new funding, CIEE is pleased to offer Lynn University eight (8) - $5,000 grants to study at one of six CIEE Global Institutes.

With unmatched flexibility, the CIEE Open Campus programs give students the opportunity to build the ideal study abroad program at the CIEE Global Institutes in Berlin, Cape Town, London, Madrid, Paris or Rome. During the fall semester students will take six courses during three 6-week blocks.
